TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

The German Embassy to Kenya was able to see on site the activities run by “ACAKORO Football” in their football training centre in the informal settlement of Korogocho, Nairobi.

The impressive work which we could observe aims in particular at one aspect: To teach positive and character building values to young and disadvantaged persons by means of sports, thus combining education with athletic training. In this sense we consider the football training centre by ACAKORO, located in one of the biggest and most dangerous slums of Nairobi, to be a project worthy of support. “ACAKORO Football” is perceived locally to be one of the lighthouse projects in a surrounding that is mostly characterised by poverty and despair.

The integration of boys and girls, of Muslims and Christians, and of children and teenagers testifies to the inclusive character of the project. The concept also gives an impression of professionalism and diversity by combining criteria that are based on social needs and on individual performance.

We can therefore recommend “ACAKORO Football” for external funding which would give the children of Korogocho slum a chance for a more positive life.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Alexander Puk
